

The "la Caixa" Foundation wishes to recruit a professional in the field of Science and Science Communication to provide support to the project "RRI Tools, a project to promote Responsible Research and Innovation", which "la Caixa" Foundation coordinates at a European level with European Commission (7th Framework Programme) funding.

This project aims to align the processes and results of research and innovation with the values and needs of the European society. It basically consists of the creation of digital tools for the promotion, dissemination and training in the practical application of RRI and it is targeted to all stakeholders of the research and innovation system but, especially, to policy makers and researchers.

Responsibilities

- To develop and review specific content of the project
- To perform monitoring tasks of the construction of the digital platform
- To provide support in the area of training, communication and dissemination of the project
- To provide support in Project Management tasks
- To review the quality of the materials developed

Requirements

- Graduate in the field of Science
- Master's degree in scientific communication, scientific policy or science management and leadership.
- Experience in multi-institutional and international projects (specially FP7)
- Experience in "Science in Society" projects
- A good command of Spanish and English (written and spoken)

Other aspects that will be valued

- Experience in European Project Management and specifically the 7th Framework Programme relating to Science in Society
- PhD or experience in research in the field of science
- Knowledge of communication using social networks
- A good command of Catalan and other major languages of the European Union

Skills

- High creativity ability
- Knowledge of the latest scientific developments
- Communication skills
- Ability to work in a team

Employment conditions

Contract: For specific work and services for the period established in the European project (3 years)
Hours: Full-time (1735 hours per year)
Location: Barcelona (available for travel)
Salary: To be determined according to the candidate's profile
Job start: January 2013

Please send curriculum and cover letter to rh@fundaciolacaixa.es indicating the recruitment process reference number 13_15_RRI. The deadline for receiving applications is 15 January 2014.